DR. JAMESON'S TRIAL.

It is Resumed in the Bow Street Court in London. The trial of Dr. Jameson and his fellow prisoners, charged with violating the foreign enlistment act in making a raid into the territory of the South African Republic, was resumed at the Bow street police court in London yesterday morning. Although there was a full attendance, there was less excitement. Seated on the bench were the Duke of Aberdeen, chairman of the British Chartered South Africa Company; Lord Monkswell, Lord and Lady Deerhurst, Ladies Foley, Finlay, Annalay, Kinaid, Buller, Ribblesdale and Bruce, Admiral Field and Mrs. A. Paget. There was no sign of a demonstration when the prisoners were ushered into court. Sergt. White of the Bechuanaland mounted police testified to having refused to join Dr. Jameson's expedition, and added that Col. Grey questioned troopers prior to starting and informed them they were not going to fight for the queen, but for the supremacy of the British flag in South Africa. The sergeant also testified that Commissioner Newton dispatched him from Mafeking, on December 30, in pursuit of Dr. Jameson's column, telling him to catch the latter at any cost. When the witness caught up with the column he handed his dispatches to Col. Grey, who ordered him to give them to Sir John Willoughby, who in turn, told Sergt. White to give them to Dr. Jameson, but later, however, sent him back to Sir John Willoughby, who finally distributed them. Replying to a question on the subject, Sergt. White testified that he did not see any of the dispatches given to Dr. Jame According to White, Sir John Willoughby said: "Tell your commanding officer that the dispatches have been received and will be attended to."

The column, Sergt. White also said, then proceeded in the direction of Johannesburg.

wood! For today and this entire That the British Ambassador Will Soon Leave Washington. A London dispatch says: It is reported that the British ambassador at Washington, Sir Julian Pauncefote, will shortly come to London to discuss with the government certain features of the Venezuelan While the persons directly concerned at the British embassy in this city in the report that Sir Julian Pauncefote has been recalled to London to discuss the Venezuelan question with the officials of the for-eign office decline to talk upon the subject, it is not believed here that the report is well founded. The sole reason that could be adduced for the recall of the ambassador at this time to London, is that his familiarity with the earlier phases of the controversy arising from his treat-ment of the subject while in the foreign ment of the subject while in the foreign office might make his advice valuable in the preparation of the historical case.

It is not perceived, however, why the ambassador's knowledge on this question could not be availed of by the foreign office by means of correspondence, while on the other hand it is probable that through his presence in Washington he is of much more service to his government in the conduct of the negotiations than he would be in London. This is particularly true at the present moment, when the negotiations are progressing with such smoothness as to justify the belief that a satisfactory conclusion of the long controversy may be expected within a reasonably short period of time, if there should be no interruption such as might follow the absence of the British ambassador from Washington even temporarily.

BRITISH GOOD WILL.

Commercial Men of the United Kingdom Desire Peace With America. At the annual meeting yesterday in London of the associated chambers of commerce of the united kingdom, on motion of Sir Andrew Kaye Rollit, the president, a resolution was passed expressing the appreciation of the associated chamhers of commerce at the friendly feeling displayed by the chamber of commerce of New York, and recording their strong desire that a method be found acceptable to both nations for settling in a conciliatory spirit any differences which may arise,

The Proposed Sunday Law.

To the Editor of The Evening Star: As a resident of Washington and a patron of The Star, I ask space in your excellent paper for a very reasonable protest to the proposed Sunday legislation, as stated by the Rev. Dr. Elliott. In the first place, all broad-minded people can see that strict Sunday laws are unjust and establish class legislation. There are thousands of families in this city who cannot afford to purchase refrigerators and supply them with ice through the long, hot summers, and such families depend upon getting their fresh meats and other perishable articles of food from their grocers on Sunday. Enact the proposed Sunday law, and people who cannot afford to make general use of lemons and other fruits, and, to them, delicacies, must suffer the entire first day of the week, in case of sudden sickness, through force of sectarian class legislation, because they cannot afford to keep a stock of perishable articles on hand to be used in case of emer-

But this is not all, by any means. Besides the other innumerable conveniences that civilization has blessed us with, and which such law would rob the people of, there are principles of liberty and freedom of conscience that would be trampled upon.

Dr. Elliott and his shade of believers have unbounded rollingers liberty and Dr. Elliott and his shade of believers have unbounded religious liberty, and, should they choose, can have two or three Sundays each week, but is it reasonable that we who do not agree with his religion should be forced to observe his Sunday so strictly? There are matters which are as conscientiously and truthfully as near and dear to the hearts and actuary to resulting the series are series as the series are series are series are series as the series thousity and truthing as near and dear to the hearts, and as true in reality, of people of all shades of belief, as those held by the petitioners for this Sunday law. All can live up to the principles of the Constitution of the United States, with its broad proof the United States, with its broad provisions for religious liberty, for its object proclaims, metaphorically speaking, "The world is my country; to do good is my religion."

FINISHED ITS LABORS

GREAT ENTHUSIASM FOR MORTON

A Move to Make McKinley Second Choice Defeated.

The New York republican convention finshed its labors last night at New York. The préliminary sparring that has been going on for weeks ended in the final battle last night, and the forces that have been dormant for two years kept within the state boundaries the honor of the presidential indorsement of the greatest state in the Union, the state casting the largest number of votes in the electoral college. That indorsement goes to Governor Levi P. Morton. The delegates-at-large will be Thomas C. Platt of Tioga, Warner Miller of Herkimer, Chauncey M. Depew of New York, and Edward Lauterbach.

The alternates will be Hamilton Fish of Garrison, Frank S. Witherbee of Port Henry, C. H. Babcock of Rochester, and Daniel Mc Millan of Buffalo.

The electors-at-large will be Gen. Benjamin F. Tracey of New York and Edward H.

Butler of Buffalo.

It was 7:53 o'clock when Temporary Chairman Parsons called the convention to order last night. Senator Brackett, chairman of the committee on contested seats, then read his report. When he read that the sitting delegates in all but one district had been allowed to retain their seats there were cheers and applause, and the report was adopted with very little opposition.

Frederick S. Gibbs of the committe on per-manent organization reported the name of Congressman George L. Southwick of Albany for permanent chairman, the list of vice presidents and secretaries. While the secretary was reading Thomas C. Platt entered the hall, and the delegates arose and cheered him while the band stopped proceedings to play "Hail to the Chief." Then somebody proposed "three cheers for Thos. C. Platt," and they were givn with a will. Chairman Lauterbach of the county committee also came in for a share of the applause, and it was ten minutes before order Congressman George L. Southwick of Alplause, and it was ten minutes before order could be restored.

Congressman Southwick was then corted to the platform. He addressed the convention in part as follows:

Congressman Southwick's Speech. "Tonight the representatives of militant and triumphant republicanism have assembled here for the purpose of sending to the national convention at St. Louis four delegates-at-large, instructed to cast their votes for Levi P. Morton. "The imposing character of this demon stration in favor of Levi P. Morton's presi-dential canvass is not to be doubted. It auspiciously inaugurates the fight which will be waged for success, and to the end, at St. Louis. Here are centered the vast business interests of the country. Here is the largest city, the greatest industrial center, the leading seaport and the most center, the leading seaport and the most important money market of the western hemisphere. The business men of the city of New York know Levi P. Morton and honor and respect his character and attainments. His judgment is assurance positive to them that the greatest business establishment in the land—the government of the United States—would be run by a business man, on business methods, with due regard to the importance of maintaining friendly relations and commerce with honor and respect his character and attainments. His judgment is assurance positive to them that the greatest business establishment in the land—the government of the United States—would be run by a business man, on business methods, with due regard to the importance of maintaining friendly relations and commerce with the nations of the world, in these troublous times, were Levi P. Morton in the White House."

With a velocity of 1,450 feet per second, the projectile barely entered the armor, and flew back badly shattered. The second shot, with increased powder charge, made for elector was announced half of the delegates had gone, but there was enough left to adopt a vote of thanks to the officers of the convention.

Before adjournment the following resolutions were adopted by a rising vote:

"Resolved, That the well-considered and pronounced preference of the republicans of Minnesota for presidential standard bearer in 1896 is William McKinley, the emphatic, growing choice of the republican vote in a few weeks with heavier and thicker plates.

The allusion to Gov. Morton early in the address was the signal for a cheer and applause that caused the speaker to hesitate for a few minutes, and this was repeated at each reiteration of the governor's name. First Expression of Dissent.

After Congressman Southwick finished George W. Aldridge of Rochester arose to report the selection of the delegates-at arge, and when they were named, Thomas Fitchie of Kings arose in the front row and tried to get recognition, but in a minute the convention was in an uproar, and the chairman refused to recognize him. When the chairman could get the pande-monium which reigned somewhat straightened out, the Brooklyn man was recog nized, and he read the following minority report:

"To the republican convention of the state of New York: The minority of the committee on nominations respectfully dis-agree with the report of the majority in the choice of delegates-at-large to the re publican national convention at St. Louis. Messrs. C. M. Depew and Warner Miller are, it is understood, willing to cast their votes in the national convention in accordance with the sentiment of their state. It is therefore desirable that their associates be of kindred spirit, and the minority of the committee on nominations respectfully present as the other two delegates Col. Baker B. Jewitt of Buffalo and Gen. Samuel Thomas of New York, with the recom-mendation that if it appears after the first ballot that Levi P. Morton cannot be the choice of the national convention, the deleales-at-large from this state will use all honorable means to promote the cause of William McKinley."

Cheering for Mckinley. Then pandemonium reigned, one-half of the audience rising and shouting for Mc-Kinley as the name was read. The chair man's gavel was raised again and again, but without effect. The house was in an uproar. Just over the chairman's head was swung a banner bearing this inscrip-

"McKinley, prosperity's advance agent." The very audacity of the act seemed to appall the Morton leaders for a moment, and for a few seconds the McKinley adherents had the floor to themselves. Then from every part of the house came roars of "Morton! Morton!" and the Albany contingent, with two Morton banners, took the place of the McKinley men. The transformation started and it was a question of lungs against lungs. The superior force of the Morton men soon made their side of the Morton men soon mad the issue more prominent. Upon a motion of previous question the chairman then put the Kings county man's amendment and the roll call was begun. There was no break until Erie county was reached, and after six districts had been reasted, and after six districts had been called there was a call for a vote on the question by delegates, some asserting that there was a division. The chair then ordered the names to be called separately and there was a cheer. The roll was called and the majority of the delegates answered "arainst the amendment."

'against the amendment." While New York was voting there were cheers for Platt and Lauterbach, and there were cheers as each delegation up to the twenty-fourth voted against the amendment. The twenty-fourth voted for, but the thirtieth and Brookfield district voted igainst. When Ontario was reached John Raines said: "Ontario resents the insult to her governor and casts seven votes against the amendment." The chair announced the vote as 631 against and 109 votes for the mendment, and then there was wild cheer The full report of the committee was then adopted by a viva voce vote. Senator Lex-ow then announced the fact that the plat-form was ready, and stepping to the front he read the platform as detailed. When the reading of the platform was finished it was adopted without debate and the convention adjourned

Morton, Sound Money and Protection The following is the platform:

The republicans of New York, in conver tion assembled, again declare their firm and unyielding adherence to the doctrine of protection to American industries, protection to the products of the American farm and protection to American labor. We are in favor of a tariff which, while providing an favor of a tariff which, while providing an income sufficient to meet the expenses of government honestly and economically administered, at the same time secures home labor and home capital from unequal foreign competition. We believe in a reciprocity with other nations which shall give our threatened him with death if he attempted to the nouse by pretending that they were anxious to rent some rooms, and as Schrage was showing them through the house they threw him to the floor, bound and gagged him. They did not injure the old man to any extent, but threatened him with death if he attempted ministered, at the same time secures home labor and home capital from unequal forcign competition. We believe in a reciprocity with other nations which shall give our and to obtain articles we need from those countries on the most advantageous terms.

The agitation for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 seriously disturbs all industrial interests and calls for a clear statement of the republican party's attitude upon this question, to the end that the trade of this country at home and abroad may again be placed upon a sound and stable foundation, again be placed upon a sound and stable foundation.

We recognize in the movement for the free coinage of silver an attempt to degrade the long established standard of our monetary system, and hence a blow to public and private credit, at once costly to the national government and harmful to our domestic and foreign commerce.

Until there is a prospect of international agreement as to silver coinage, and while gold remains the standard of the United States and of the civilized world, the republican party of New York declares itself in favor of the firm and honorable maintenance of that standard. nance of that standard.

We believe in a business administration of the government by business principles for the benefit of the suffering business interests of this great people. For nearly four years the material progress of the nation has been blocked, so that all branches of trade have suffered and the workmen have been deprived of reasonable and living wages by the utter lack of business comwages by the utter lack of business common sense among our democratic rulers. It is the duty and privilege of the republican party to promptly mend this unhappy state of affairs by nominating and electing a business man for the presidency, and we ask the aid of thoughtful republicans everywhere in this great and meritorious work. On this platform we present Gov. Levi Parsons Morton as New York's republican candidate for President. He is in every way fit for the high honor and he is peculiarly the man for the hour. He has been a business man with business men. He would prove a business President for the good of all interests of the people. good of all interests of the people. He has been Representative in Congress, minister to France, Vice President of the United States, governor of New York, and each of these positions he has filled with an ability which has never been surpassed, with last-ing credit to himself and great benefit to his state and to his country. His grasp of public affairs was never so clear and so comprehensive as it is today, and his ability to labor earnestly for the welfare of the nation was never so distinctly marked as now. Gov. Morton's long and varied pub-lic career offers proof positive that he is a sincere and earnest republican, and that fidelity to the principles of his party is with him a second nature. He stands for honesty in public office. There is no doubt as to the esteem in which he is held at home. Two years since he polled over 156,000 more votes than the most popular democrat in the state, receiving by far the greatest majority ever given a republican candidate for governor.

Gov. Morton's long and honorable public service, his spotless character, his great executive ability, his devotion to his party and its principles eminently fit him for the presidency and entitle him to our hearty and enthusiastic support. Therefore, we in-struct our delegates to the St. Louis convention to present him as our candidate for President, and urge upon them to use every honorable means to secure his nomi-

MINNESOTA REPUBLICANS.

Delegates-nt-Large for McKinley-Free Silver Opposed. At the afternoon session of the Minnesota republican convention the delegates-atlarge were elected by acclamation, amid wild cheers and a scene of great enthus asm.

Each of the delegates chosen made a speech pledging himself to McKinley. The delegates to St. Louis having been selected, the convention became restless and showed signs of breaking up, and before the candidates for electors had been chosen many had left the hall. J. Frank Wreaton. an alternate from Minneapolis, was called on for remarks, and he made a stirring Mc-Kinley speech. The alternates-at-large and the electors were chosen by acclamation, the first man mentioned for the place secur-olican vote throughout the land, and this convention expects the delegates and alternates-at-large today to be elected by it to do all in their power honorably from now until that object is accomplished to bring about promptly the nomination of William Mc-Kinley for President of the United States. "Resoived, That we favor the use of both gold and silver to the extent to which they can be maintained in circulation, at a parity can be maintained in circulation, at a parity, in purchasing and debt-paying power; that we are earnestly opposed, under the present condition, to the free and unlimited coinage of silver for the manifest reason that it would destroy such parity, enormously con-tract the volume of our currency by forcing gold out of circulation and immediately place us on a silver basis. Believing, also, that it is a self-evident fact that the effect of the international demonetization of silver can be overcome only by the international remonetization of that metal, the republican party of Minnesota most heartily favors an international conference for that purpose." McKinley Men Beaten at Austin, After waiting all day for the executive committee to pass on credentials looking to the seating of contesting delegations for temporary organization, the Texas republican convention was called to order at Austin at 9:15 o'clock last night. A row was immediately precipitated over the matter of electing a temporary chairman. The executive committee's report recommended Cuney, the Allison leader, for temporary chairman. A. J. Rosenthal, the McKinley chairman. A. J. Rosenthal, the McKinley faction's delegate, was also placed before the convention. The roll call was slowly rolled off, resulting in Cuney's capturing the nomination by a big majority.

MR. BAYARD SPEAKS.

He Hints at the Recent Censure of His Remarks. The United States ambassador, Mr. Bayard, in responding to the toast, "Kith and kin beyond the seas," at the banquet of the City of London Pension Society last night, made a significant speech, in which he said: "Your kindred beyond the seas are as like as two peas to those of Great Britain. The two peas are patriotism and pluck." Then, after a reference to the charitable disposition of the race throughout the world, Mr. Bayard said: "Your kindred beyond the seas are not always unanimous. Nevertheless there is one voice that appeals to them all. Since I came to England I have never found occasion to change my tone. There is nothing I would say at home that I would not say here, and there is nothing I would say here that I would not say at home. I do not expect unanimity. I would almost say God

"But do not expect us to speak in a tone to suit everybody, for in the system of government originated here and carried beyond the Atlantic, there is something that enables a man to speak according to his own conscience. There, indeed, is the strength of this country, and the strength of my own. When the time shall come that a man shall not dare to speak the thoughts that swell within him for the public good,

God help the country.

"Tennyson said 'Whether bound by friends or foes, man may speak the thing he will,' and I believe the echo of these words is as strong in the country of my birth and where my best hopes lie as in yours. Here lies that which shall keep both countries moving onward and upward in the cause of civilization. We will never suppress the truth for fear of evil comequences, but will tell it whether we live or whether we have to die." (Cheers.)

TRYING RUSSIAN ARMOR.

Bombarding Plates at Indian Head Made for the Czar's Navy. The Indian Head proving ground was yesterday the scene of a test of armor plate under somewhat unusual conditions. The plate in question was manufactured by the Carnegies for the Russian government for use in the construction of new battle ships, and it was tested at the government station by officers of the United States navy, as a special act of friendship and comity to the Russian government. But for this the armor would have to be taken to Russia for test, as the manufacturers have no facilities for such work. Yesterday's test was entirely successful, and insures the acceptance of the lot of arand insures the acceptance of the lot of armor represented by the plate. OFFICIAL AMNESTY.

Granted to Ex-Confederates Who Left the Union Service. Senator Hill's bill to remove the restrictions against the appointment, as officers of the army or navy, of persons who held commissions in the regular army or navy before the rebellion and who subsequently took part in the war on the side of the confederacy, which passed the Senate during the height of the excitement over the Venezuela boundary question, passed the House yesterday, after two hours' debate, with but one dissenting vote, that of Mr. Boutelle of Maine. The democrats, except Mr. Cummings of New York, who spoke, as he said, "as one of $00,000 northern demoorats who fought in the Union army," and Mr. Wilson of South Carolina, who was drawn into the debate by Mr. Boutelle, refrained entirely from participation. Mr. Hull of Iowa, chairman of the mili-tary committee, who had charge of the bill, admitted that it would subserve no practical purpose and was largely senti-mental. Mr. Boutelle, who led the oppo-sition single-handed, thought it would furnish a bad object lesson for naval and military cadets, who were about entering on careers in the service of their country, and when he got warmed up to his subject called attention to the fact that many southern men in Congress in the past had obstructed legislation in the interest of Union soldiers, dwelling particularly on the opposition to the retirement of General Grant. Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio and Mr. Grow of Pennsylvania, however, supported the bill ardently, as a graceful and gracious act to the vanquished, and when the vote was taken Mr. Boutelle alone voted against it. The Pensioning of Clerks.

To the Editor of The Evening Star: It has been proposed to withhold a certain percentage of the salaries of government clerks for the purpose of establishing a pension fund for superannuated clerks. The object is a worthy one, but if the clerks are to be consulted, the younger ones, at least, will not consent to having their small salaries reduced in that way. The pay is already too small to re-tain permanently in the service the bright-est and most ambitious young men. If the est and mest ambitious young men. If the clerks are to pay their own pensions out of their salaries let each clerk save as much or is little as he pleases for himself alone. Do not treat them as children in need of guardians. If clerks are not able to look after their own private affairs, business of the government. If clerks going out of the service are allowed to draw out what has been deducted from their salaries the fund established would not be sufficient.

United States judges are retired on full pay, which they continue to draw as long as they live, and they draw it from the public treasury, not from their own contri-butions. If his honor should lay aside a part of his fine salary for a superannu-ation fund, it would not deprive him of the luxuries of life, while many ordinary comforts would be missing in the family of the poor clerk whose modest stipend is reduced for any cause.

Army officers are retired on three-fourths pay, which is not deducted from the compensation of those on the active list. They may, under the law, be retired on account of disability in no way incident to the mili-tary service. In such case they are no more entitled to retired pay than persons in the civil service.

The government clerk, disabled by confinement in poorly lighted and badly venfinement in poorry nighted and ondry ven-tilated work rooms gets a curt dismissal with not so much as a "thank you" for wearing out his life in the line of duty. If we are to arrive at that happy state years old, and lives alone at 711 South Jefferson street, Chicago, was bound and gagged by two men last evening in that city and robbed of money and papers to more than $50.000. The roballowed by Congress to other classes of public servants were reduced, there might be enough money saved to provide a bare subsistence for superannuated employes of the departments.
